

CARNEGIE FREE
LIBRARY
OF BEAVER FALLS

Uncomfortable
CONVERSATIONS
speaker series
— podcast —

An Uncomfortable Conversation:

HUMAN TRAFFICKING:

It's Closer Than You Think

Wednesday, March 14th

6:30pm to 8:30pm

In the Meeting Room at the Carnegie Library of Beaver Falls

On March 14, 2018 The Carnegie Free Library of Beaver Falls (CFLBF) will begin hosting the Uncomfortable Conversations Speaker Series. The series is called uncomfortable conversations because these are not easy topics that have simple solutions. The series will create forums to help initiate conversations about topics that can affect our children, our families, our friends, and our communities. Each of the programs will be designed to provide the opportunity to become aware of community issues, begin a discussion, share what you know so others can learn, and when possible, they will be empowered to take appropriate action.

6:30pm -7:15pm Concurrent Sessions

Tweens and Teens Session: Discussion led by Brenda Lutz from Shared Hope

Adult Session: Discussion led by Sister Jeanette Bussen, Co-Chair, Beaver County Human Trafficking Coalition

7:15pm-7:30pm Short Break

7:30pm-8:30pm Panel Discussion and Questions

All age groups will be together in a wrap-up session that will provide a panel discussion including additional community experts such as Detective Anthony Berosh, Ann Lewis representing A Child's Place and Andrea Cotton-Anderson, from Standing in the Gap.

No Registration Required

CARNEGIE FREE
LIBRARY
OF BEAVER FALLS

A member of Beaver County
Library System

CIVIC AND SOCIAL LITERACY

724.846.4340 Phone | 724.846.0370 Fax | beaverlibraries.org/beaverfalls.asp